John Tkaczewski, President and Co-Founder, FileCatalyst

BIOGRAPHY

In 2000, John Tkaczewski co-founded Unlimi-Tech Software, the creators of FileCatalyst file transfer software. During John's tenure as President, FileCatalyst has been deployed by many fortune 50 companies, television broadcasters and movie studios around the world. In 2014 and again in 2015, the company was presented with the prestigious Emmy award by the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences. John is never too far away from coding and still regularly checks-in code to a number of products sold by FileCatalyst today. Besides coding, John is also responsible for overall vision, strategy and daily operations for the company. John graduated Bishop's University in 1999 with a BSc. in Computer Science and a Business Diploma. Prior to founding Unlimi-Tech, John worked as a programmer analyst for PWGSC, a department of the Canadian Federal Government.
